Navy's Greatest Peacetime Disaster Takes Place
Off West Coast When Premature Explosion
Occurs in Turret on Battleship Mississippi —Flames and Poison Gases Went Through Open Breach—In Another Explosion Projectile Came Near Hitting Liner.

(By The Associated Press.)

SAN PEDRO, Calif., June 13.—The lives of three officers and forty-five enlisted men have been snuffed out aboard the dreadnaught Mississippi in the navy's greatest peace time disaster which brought to a tragic climax a week of sham battles and target practice.

Aboard the hospital ship relief lay the dead, killed by a premature explosion in the Mississippi's number 2 turret and the injured. Aboard the U. S. S. New Mexico, flagship of division four of the battle fleet, members of a naval board of inquiry prepared to open their investigation of the disaster. Aboard the Mississippi, anchored outside the breakwater, officers and men watched the flame shattered turret where a fourteen-inch gun with an unexploded charge jammed in its breach, meant that the danger of still another explosion had not passed.

It was a "flare back" from one of the guns that shot death in names and poisonous gases back into the turret through its open breach. A second, the breach locked, let loose in the harbor here as the Mississippi steamed home with its dead and injured from the drill grounds and hurled steel projectile dangerously near to an outbound passenger liner. Should the third gun's charge explode before it can be removed, however, it is believed the precautions already taken will render the firing harmless.

Of the injured there were strangely few. With a death list close to the half hundred mark, only eight men were numbered among the hurt, and their injuries were comparatively slight, consisting mainly of minor burns and lacerations.

Just how the fatal explosion occurred will be determined early today, though from witnesses aboard the Mississippi and other vessels near her when disaster broke up their scheduled target practice, a fairly comprehensive picture of the accident was obtained.

The battleship Mississippi, ten days out, was in the lat- ter evening in San Pedro, 45 miles from here and was engaged in secret gunnery practice, a feature of which was mass firing by thirty-six 14-inch rifles trained on a single target. It was about 1 o'clock. In the plotting room of the Mississippi electric bulbs flashed one by one their signals as each gun was fired and reloaded.

Eight of twelve scheduled salvos had been fired, each rocking the great ship as the guns beached their steel at the target. After the eighth salvo, other guns in other turrets reported ready for the next volley but no flash came from turret number 2, near the bow of the ship.

In the plotting room anxiety grew. Attempts to communicate with the turret failed. Then came a terse command: "Flood the magazines."

On deck men and officers hastened to the rescue but it was more than a half hour before any attempt could be made to enter the doomed turret. There were eighty odd men there. 48 of them perished.

When the flare back from the first 14-inch gun came—officers say it may have been caused by a premature signal to throw the electric switch setting off the charge, or by a still clinging fragment left in the breach after the previous firing—the only avenues of escape were cut off by flames. Four men leaped through hatches to safety. All others in that part of the turret containing the guns suffocated in the atmosphere of flame, gas and poisonous fumes.

Joe Caviezel, seaman from the New Mexico, and another blue-jacket attached to the Mississippi, turned themselves through an open hatch with Robert Mac Avin, New Mexico, boatswain, catapulting after them. Ensign J. J. Levesque, another observer from the New Mexico, dived from the shell deck down the shaft of the powder hoist, leading away from the turret.

For half an hour every flame extinguishing agency on board was directed toward quelling the burning gases and the flaming oil drip of the gun operating machinery. The hatches were cracked with dead and only water here at first could be forced through the entrances.

Then came Ensign H. D. Smith, of Spokane, Washington, today acknowledging the outstanding hero of the disaster.

Smith answered a call for volunteers willing to enter the death turret. He was chosen because of his small stature. Equipped with a gas mask and an air hose, he forced his way through the piled up bodies of victims and, braving an inferno of heat, gas and flames, made a complete inspection of the turret and reported no survivors. Then he went back and brought out the first bodies.

By then other vessels of the division knew what had happened. The "Mississippi" and the Idaho stood by and small boats from ships surrounding were sent to the stricken vessel.

Over all was the apprehension that other guns in the division might explode; that the explosion might reach the magazine and wreck the Mississippi. One other gun did explode and that, too, at the tragic moment when the injured and injured men were being transferred to the hospital ship. Delayed after a race to port in the wake of wireless messages that gave naval officers advance their first intimations of the disaster.

The second explosion did not send a projectile crashing into the center of San Pedro was due only to the fact that after the first shot the

BANDITS RANSACK TRAIN

HOLD-UP MOST DARING IN U. S. RAIL HISTORY

Four Automobile Loads of Bandits Boarded Train and Took Complete Charge

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, June 13.—Authorities of several counties were watching all roads today for trace of four automobile loads of train robbers who robbed a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul express and mail train last night, carrying away a fortune in registered mail. Postal and bank officials however said the loot would be much less than early estimates which had ranged from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Although the hold-up was one of the most daring in railroad history and was executed with precision and by a large band, the exact number of which has not been ascertained, A. E. Germer, chief postoffice inspector here, declared the loss would not exceed $100,000, in his opinion. Federal reserve officials said all shipments of currency and securities from the Federal Reserve of Chicago aggregated $75,000.

CHICAGO, June 13.—In one of the biggest and most daring robberies in railroad history, four automobile loads of bandits last night held up a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail and express train and escaped with registered mail valued at close to $2,000,000.

The train, en route from Chicago to St. Paul, was stopped at Rondout, Ills., 32 miles north of Chicago. Consisting of eight mail coaches and two express cars it left Chicago at 9 p. m. central standard time. Fifty minutes later it was in the possession of the bandits. In 56 minutes they gathered between 40 and 45 pouches of registered mail and sped away into the darkness. A few shots were fired but the only casualty was a robber shot by his fellows who mistook him for a trainman.

The loss early today was estimated at about $2,000,000 but Federal Reserve Bank officials said a careful check might show it to exceed that figure.

The train carried more than seventy mail clerks and guards, but only those in three coaches were compelled to face the guns of the robbers. Those cars carried the registered and first class mail.

The robbers forced their way into the cars by breaking windows and throwing bombs filled with chlorine gas.

The clerks and guards, nearly overcome by the deadly fumes were forced to open the doors and allow the robbers to enter.

Officials are certain that the hold-up was arranged by men thoroughly familiar with railroad and railway mail clerks work.

At least two of the robbers concealed themselves aboard the mail special before it left Chicago. The train had just gone through Rondout and was traveling close to sixty miles an hour. Two men, carrying flashlights and pistols, came from their hiding place behind the tender and the first coach, crawled across the swaying coal tender and into the engine cab.

The robbers forced their way into the cars by breaking windows and throwing bombs filled with chlorine gas.

The clerks and guards, nearly overcome by the deadly fumes were forced to open the doors and allow the robbers to enter.

Fourth, Cahrls G. Dawes was the true choice of the entire convention and in many cases his labor record was an asset to him. With Lowden refusing to run, Dawes was the type of man the delegates wanted all along but the White House spokesman insisted on a candidate who would appeal to the western farmers, some one identified with the progressive movement and for that reason every one supposed the wishes of the President would prevail and no one of the Dawes school of thought could be or would be nominated.

Fifth, although there was natural resentment on the part of the "Old Guard" leaders at the tactics of Mr. Butler whom they denounced as amateur and blundering, there was a far greater significance in the action of the delegates in turning down Hoover and Kenyon.

The truth is the majority of the delegates to the Republican convention and the old guard leaders are convinced that it is a mistake to cater to the radicals by trying to give them any one approaching their type and that it is better to stand pat on a conservative man and even take a defeat rather than compromise on principle.

This spirit was noticeable throughout and will have an important bearing on the outcome.

The recent disappearance of Frank Price, textile operative at Schoolfield, whose clothing was found in the middle of the bridge, remains unsolved. Schoolfield officers have been unable to locate any trace of him but they are now seeking him in Hickory, N. C., largely for the purpose of informing him that a baby daughter has arrived at his home since his absence. Mrs. Price, the officer's say, has not heard anything from her husband since he disappeared so mysteriously after leaving his clothes on the bridge.

have had any one he wanted for vice-president had his managers played their cards right. They did not know how to issue orders and at the same time avoid the resentment that comes from being given a command. They trouble.

Murder Was Aim of Dixon Youths

Further details of the shooting of William Cunningham, colored, at Robert and William Dixon, brothers, were learned today. It was also learned that the two brothers had confessed to a charge of attempted murder.

The negroes were arraigned before Justice of Peace S. B. Haley, and sent on to the grand jury. Cunningham was assaulted with a stick and shot twice, once in the nose and once in the right

The cause of the shooting is said to have been revenge for Cunningham at the tragic moment when the Farmers Behind In Work.

The sun which has been hidden from view all this week, ventured out for awhile this afternoon, and made a brave struggle against the flying clouds, but after being permitted to shine for a short while, the clouds again enveloped the rays of the sun with their shadow. There was a severe electric storm in the Meadeville neighborhood Monday afternoon which resulted in the destruction by lightning of a residence just completed, and a terrific downpour of rain. The farmers are not near through with their planting yet, and several of them have ground that has not even been prepared. It is now unusually late for much planting in this section and if the weatherman doesn't soon be good, the crops will be curtailed considerably. The atmosphere has been far too chilly for this season of the year, and the ladies and some of the men have been going about with their heavy coats on. The people are divided in their opinions as to the cause of these unusual weather conditions. Some hold the Republican National Convention at Cleveland responsible, while others contend that it was brought about by the municipal election at Danville.

until the other side takes a step. If the contest is launched the mayor and his friends will put up a fight which will involve votes cast in two wards. The situation just now is being weighed judicially and no premature move will be made.

Judge Withers in answer to a question today said that the mayoralty election has not been broached before him by either side thus far. He is known to have made a careful study of the election law since the close of the race became apparent and the persons participating therein, they gave a gentle tapping at the door and caused a sudden stampede.

The stampede did not prevent the arrest of L. Emerson, J. W. Gossett, G. C. Brandon, Sam Yamapolus and Broomfield himself, and charges of unlawful gambling have been lodged against them, with the officers named as subscribers as witnesses. One of the players complained of "the pot" being "sweetened" too often, but it is unlikely that a charge of operating a gambling house could be sustained; hence the charge of unlawful gambling.

The five men were given hearings before the mayor this morning. Yamapolus denied the charge, and so did the others declare that he was not in the game. The officers contradicted this, though. They told of watching the game before making the raid. They stated that Yamapolus lost all of his money finally and had to have a check cashed. Emerson, Gossett and Brandon were assasinated by a $5000 cash each. Broomfield and Yamapolus drew six dollars and costs.

Pannie Cunningham, colored, is alleged to have allowed her chickens to run at large, but it was a trivial matter and the warrant was dismissed.

Edward Hullman was acquitted of a false pretense charge.

Ethel Coleman, a negro, is said to have conducted herself in a disorderly manner and as a result was fined $2.50 and costs.

Owen Graves, colored, was freed of a charge of violating the traffic ordinance.

Mrs. Carrie Webb is being held, she being suspected of being insane.

Oscar Winston, colored, was forced to separate with $21 and the costs for carrying a pistol concealed.

Fred C. Conklin is held as an insane person.

Good Morning Judge!

RICE GWYNN'S SUCCESSOR WILL BE NAMED NOW

BOTH SIDES IN MAYOR CONTEST MARKING TIME

No precipitate action will be taken in the proposed contest of the mayoral election. It was learned an hour ago this morning. While it seems certain that a contest must be undertaken in order to secure a recount of the ballots fifteen days remain within which to take this step and there continues to be discussion and speculation as to the wisdom of separating the offices and dividing the honors provided such a step is concurred in by both candidates. There appears to be marked sentiment for an amicable solution of the matter without going to court, the possible engendering of feeling by a protracted court battle to establish the identity of the winner in a contest and a possible tie of the bond election outcome. Mayor Wooding is not adverse to some such solution according to some of his friends though there is no definite expression from the mayor himself. Mr. Carter has repudiated his affairs in the hands of his attorneys and they had nothing to report today in the way of tangible developments though it was admitted that further consultations are in progress.

There is an opinion that the recount of the vote could be made without going to court by each candidate agreeing and consenting to a recount in an amicable way. The count to be made by the election commissioners in the presence of ticket representatives of each candidate. It is reported that such a count could be undertaken without violating the election law. It is not known, however, whether Mayor Wooding with a one vote lead would concur. Strictly speaking he has been re-elected mayor of Danville for four years on the face of unofficial returns and his position in accepting the returns is considered sound by many of his friends.

The question has arisen what the result would be if the final recounts were to show a tie. Friends of the mayor claim he would still be the mayor since undefeated. Supporters of Mr. Carter claim this clearly would call for another election.

If a contest is staged Judge Withers will not sit as arbiter. He is still unwell and is going to be within a few days to take treatment and will remain away probably for the month of July.

Gov. Trimble therefore would be asked to send another judge to Danville to sit in the case.

Harry Wooding, Jr., this morning asserted that he anticipated no move

SIDELIGHTS ON G. O. P. MEETING

By ROBERT T. SMALL
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—The ladies, God bless them, of the G. O. P. had their very first meeting with the men members of the Republican national committee Friday. That is to say, it is the first meeting as equals. The Democratic women have been pounding their Republican sisters for the past three or four years because they had not won this complete recognition from their party. Now the G. O. P. ladies may point with all sorts of pride and no longer view with alarm.

Their first act will be to elect William M. Butler of Massachusetts, as chairman of the committee to conduct the presidential campaign. This is fitting for it was Mr. Butler, acting for and in behalf of President Coolidge, who blocked all efforts to sidetrack the emancipation proclamation for the women. No inconsiderable number of the "old timers" in the convention and on the old national committee were opposed to the idea of having two representatives from every state. They insisted it was just as logical to have a man senator and a woman senator, a man governor and a woman governor and in the last analysis, a man president of the United States, and a woman president. They argued that if a woman is entitled to one office just because she is a woman, she should have an equal claim to every office in the land.

The various state delegations already had met and elected the men members of the new national committee when the convention adopted the rule giving the women equal representation. Then they had to meet all over again to choose the ladies.

Inasmuch as there is no "color line" drawn in the Republican party there was some speculation at first as to what complications might ensue in the south where a state might select a colored man as a member of the national committee. It was explained, however, that this bridge already had been crossed. For a number of years Georgia has been represented by a colored man, Henry Lincoln Johnson. When the national committee adopted the policy of permitting members to become "associate" members of the committee without a vote, the committee from Georgia named a colored woman to the place. This precedent apparently will be continued now that the women have full powers on the committee.

Judge Withers in answer to a question today said that the mayoralty election has not been broached before him by either side thus far. He is known to have made a careful study of the election law since the close of the race became apparent and the persons participating therein, they gave a gentle tapping at the door and caused a sudden stampede.

Mondell that President Coolidge was listening in at his radio set at the White House. This is the first time in history that a president or anybody else for that matter could do that sort of thing. Every one wondered if the president stuck to the ear phones all the time Representative Henry Allen Cooper, of Wisconsin, was reading the LaFollette platform to the convention and moving its adoption as a substitute for the one Mr. Coolidge himself had approved. If he did continue to listen in and didn't give too much interference or static the president must have been fairly startled by some of the racial protests. Perhaps he enjoyed the laughter which greeted some of the proposed plank and perhaps he approved of the applause which was given to the venerable Mr. Cooper at his conclusion.

The LaFollette party could not have picked a better spokesman for its convention work. When Mr. Cooper arose to read, the delegates of all the states and territories except Wisconsin "out of the party" he immediately won the respect and sympathy of the galleries and that was a great victory for a man in his difficult position.

Already there had been plenty of calls to "throw 'em out" even though there was a reference to the Wisconsin delegation. There were a few calls at Mr. Cooper, but he soon caught on and whenever Phil Campion of Kansas, the parliamentarian of the convention, tried to "shoo" Mr. Cooper closer to the radio microphones so his stuff would get across, the crowd mistook the move for an attempt to tell the speaker that his time was up. The galleries immediately demanded that he be allowed to go on.

Henry Allen Cooper is the patriarch of the House of Representatives at Washington. He is one of the old timers, ranking in service with Uncle Joe Cannon and Speaker Gillett. When that latter left the house to go to the senate Mr. Cooper will be the oldest man in point of service as well as in years, left in the legislative chamber at the south end of the capitol. He holds the respect and friendship of all his fellow members, especially those who have served longest with him. It was certain that he was to receive every consideration in a convention presided over by his old friend and former associate, Mr. Mondell. Mr. Cooper took occasion publicly to thank "Frank" for his courtesy.

Business and Professional Women's Club Meeting

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Danville, held their last business session of the year last evening, June 12, at the Country Club, following a Club supper, at which covers were said for forty-nine. At 8 o'clock the members took their places and Miss Mary Walker, newly elected president of the club, asked a blessing upon the assembly, after which Miss Sallie Haskins, the retiring president, presided.

The long table was decorated with mounds of pink sweetpeas, roses and graceful sprays of foliage, among which pink candles and crystal sparkled as merrily as the wit and humor of the original songs and toasts that followed while the super progressed. Miss Lilly Voss at the piano played a rollicking accompaniment and every voice joined heartily.

A compliment stung, among others, was very unique calling on various members to stand up the number including Miss Mary Walker, Miss Sallie Haskins, Judge Harris of the Juvenile Court, Misses Myrtle Bowen and Elle Boudin, chairwoman of the entertainment, and Miss Lilly Voss, musician. Following supper, Miss Haskins expressed her pleasure at having been permitted to serve as president of this organization of representative business women of Danville, thanking them for their hearty cooperation in all undertakings during the two years of her incumbency, and passing on the honor of the office to Miss Walker, under whose administration she hoped the club would do greater things and become the leader in the state.

Reports from the delegates who attended the State Federation meeting recently held in Lynchburg, were read by Mrs. Besse Glasgow, chairman; Miss Kate Watkins, Miss Ruth Burch, Miss Myrtle Lee, Miss Annie McKinsey, Miss Mary Bowen. Among other important questions stressed in the reports of the State Federation meeting was the duty of exercising the right of the franchise as an essential step in development of individual citizenship, and progress in general. Quoting from a speech made by Mrs. Lena Lake Forrester, one of America's leading business women, Miss Myrtle Lee said, "too many women are entering the business world by the door of stenography and typing as an occupation bringing quick financial returns, and too few are claiming their attention to law, medicine and other professions requiring a longer period of preparation and a greater degree of intellectual effort, reminding the women that if they would do big things they must first think big things."

At the close of the reports, good-night songs were sung and the club adjourned for the summer.

Among the visitors and guests of the club were Miss Emily Allison, superintendent of General Hospital, Miss Janie Guerrant of Baltimore, formerly of this city. Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Erna Anderson. The club now has about seventy members, representing seventeen different lines of occupation, which number will probably be increased by the fall.

FASHION NOTES

LITTLE TRIMMING

It seems impossible to have hats less trimmed than they are, at the present time, but the latest news from Paris informs us this is being done and that a ribbon binding or possibly a ribbon band about the crown tied in a simple bow is as much as any bonnet needs.

OPEN EFFECT

Double hemstitching wide enough to give a decidedly open effect is one of the most approved trimmings for crepe de chine or voile blouses and dresses.

FOR TRAVELING

For traveling there are the smartest of jersey dresses with unlined coats to match. The coats are long and very straight.

OSTRICH FRINGE

White ostrich fringe that gives the effect of having been partly dipped in black dye is seen on the most modish evening gowns.

WHITE SKUNK

White skunk is a novelty in fur that is much liked to form a contrast with a black wool or satin.

LIZARD SKIN

The combination of lizard skin and suede is noticed on the smartest foot-gear.

LINGERIE

Yellow lingerie is seen to excellent advantage in georgette crepe and crepe de chine and is particularly lovely when combined with black lace.

STEEL BEADS

Bracelets of steel beads and necklaces of gray pearls are more stylish now than the more colorful effects in costume jewelry.

CREPE DRESSES

Figured georgette crepe dresses with large floral designs frequently have a cape to match.

BLACK SILK

Black ottoman silk makes a very smart tailleur, especially when combined with a white cravat or scarf.

WOMAN ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF HUSBAND

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., June 12.—Mrs. Julia Dorf Stull, on trial for the murder of her husband, Raymond Sylvester Stull, was acquitted by a jury in the Hastings court here late this afternoon. The jury remained out less than five minutes.

The testimony of two state witnesses, Dr. V. P. Patterson, ambulance surgeon, who attended Stull and Mrs. M. M. Stratton, in whose home Stull and his wife were boarding, was ruled out when the prosecutor agreed to submit the case to the jury without argument. The two witnesses testified that they had heard Stull remark, just before his death that he was not a suicide. Counsel for Mrs. Stull objected to the testimony and the court sustained the objection.

Stull was shot during a "scuffle" in the room he and Mrs. Stull occupied since she followed him here from Houston a few days before the shooting because, she told the police, he was trying to divorce her and was infatuated with a woman in San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Stull said, at the time of her arrest, that the "scuffle" took place after she found her husband in his office writing a letter to the woman in San Antonio.

The United States adopted standard time in 1883 on the initiative of the American Railway Association.

At the close of the reports, good-night songs were sung and the club adjourned for the summer.

Among the visitors and guests of the club were Miss Emily Allison, superintendent of General Hospital, Miss Janie Guerrant of Baltimore, formerly of this city. Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Erna Anderson. The club was considered only a nuisance. A pest to be "shooed" away if possible, killed without too much effort.

To-day, however, all this is changed. Doctors now are agreed that many diseases are spread by germs carried from place to place on the silty feet of flies. Typhoid fever and other malignant ills frequently can be traced directly to the flies that crawl over your food or wipe their dirty feet on your face as you sleep.

Our best protection against the disgusting, menacing fly is Dethol—a modern liquid spray that destroys flies by the roomful. Sprayed regularly about the house, Dethol will keep your whole home free from flies, mosquitoes, roaches, ants, bed-bugs, moths and other loathsome, destructive insect life. Full directions on can.

Dethol also is invaluable as an aid in house cleaning. Sprayed in musty places about the home, Dethol sweetly purifies and disinfects the air like a cleansing breeze. Sprayed lightly on sinks, tubs, tile, windows, glassware, etc., Dethol saves hard scrubbing. You simply wipe the sprayed articles clean with a damp rag. Dethol does not stain.

Although all regular club meetings and classes are discontinued during the summer months, the girls are informal meetings for good time.

Wednesday night, the Industrial Club gave a miscellaneous shower to one of their members, Miss Elizabeth Lewis, whose marriage takes place in June. The shower was given in the lovely living room of Hyatt Hall, where a number of the lab girls live. The room was decorated in yellow and white and on the center table was a huge wedding cake from which came streams of white ribbon with a prize attached for each guest. Then there were apt of cute peppy games during the midst of which Frances Lee pulled little express wagon all decorated in yellow and white crepe paper and led daisies with the gifts piled in the middle of the wagon.

A dainty ice course was served by some of the girls of Hyatt Hall.

Among the guests were, Misses Pearl and Sallie Young, Vera Clegg, Empress Dodson, Miss Eanes, Mary Gourlet, Captain Yount, Tina Vernon, Mable Cole, Elizabeth Lewis, Mrs. Eliza Lewis, Mildred Lewis, Cuma Williams, Mrs. D. K. Lewis, Miss Parker and a few others.

The girls of the Industrial Department are looking forward to the return of Miss Daniel Saturday, who has been on her vacation.

The Girl Reserves and Junior Members are having a jolly fun in meeting each other at Hyatt Hall pool on Monday and Thursday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30. Thursday morning there were four in the pool and Miss Sullivan is just kind in helping them to learn to swim.

Many Important Matters Passed By City Council

The city council remained in session for three hours last night and disposed of a number of legislation much of which was of importance.

Outstanding features were the proposed agreement to merge one home for the city and county's indigent poor though there arose discussion over the depreciation rate which the county should be charged, and presentation to the council of a resolution from the Pittsylvania supervisors reminding the city council that it has failed to pay the sum of $2,500 annually for the past several years as agreed following the carrying of a bond issue in Dan River District. The county wants the council to pay what it owes, the sum being $16,250 and the city attorney last night was asked to look into the matter. Failure to pay is not an oversight on the part of Danville. It was called by several councilmen last night that there was a specific understanding that the roads built in Dan River district on the proceeds of the bond should be maintained and it is charged the roads were not maintained and the city stopped making its annual contribution on that ground. Now, however, there is evidence that the roads are being repaired and it seems likely that the aggregate amount owing will be paid up.

Traction Proposes Up
An important matter broached last night was the effort of the Danville Traction and Power Company to secure the privilege of operating one man-car in the city. A long letter setting forth the present difficulties of the company was read also a report from the finance committee recommending that the privilege be granted but asking the lapse of ten days in order that public reaction may be seen. C. G. Holland, president of the company was on hand last night to speak but on learning that the finance committee had made a favorable recommendation he did not ask the privilege of the floor.

The members of the city council were present last night with the exception of Guy Walton and B. J. Hurd. Mr. Hurd has been advised not to attend any more council meetings until August when there will be a question about his qualification. This is on the advice of the city attorney.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Rev. J. W. Rustin who referred to the recent election as a "great moral victory."

Under the suspension of the rules T. Lawrence Patrick appeared and seeking for the judges and clerks in the recent election asked that they be accorded two days' pay for their work in view of the length of time spent at the polls and the fact that the final count carried them into the small hours of the next morning. This matter was referred to the finance committee.

Resolution for Closing Stores

Rev. C. J. D. Parker appeared and presented a resolution from the Ministerial Association urging the council to adopt a resolution providing for the closing of drug stores in the city during church hours on Sunday. This matter precipitated a debate and no definite action was taken. Rev. Mr. Parker said the sole purpose of the action of the Ministerial Association was to offer men employed in drug stores an opportunity to go to church. The finance committee report came during a number of meetings. The ordinance recently presented prohibits the transfer of merchants' licenses which the city has adopted.

The committee asked for a renewal of the cancelled appropriation of $1,500 to pay the charge of a landscape gardener whose services are to be employed in developing the new North Danville cemetery. This sum was made available by unanimous vote.

The public welfare committee report included a lengthy ordinance bearing on the inspection of meat and the slaughter of cattle. Col. Carrington, recently back from Europe and presiding for the first time in two months, characterized the ordinance as too verbose and difficult of construction, suggesting that it be simplified. The ordinance which provides a scale of fees was ordered to be lowered to $500 and requested for the draining of stagnant pools thus removing mosquito breeding places. City prisoners would be used for this work but a guard would have to be employed during the two months which would be consumed in the work. The matter was passed by.

At this point a lively discussion arose over the recommendation contained in the committee's report that the city health officer be granted five weeks' holiday and that he be paid $200 towards his expenses in attending a course of lectures at Columbia University. These lectures are to be conducted in New York July 7 to August 15th, by the United States Public Health Association, and the committee, on record as believing that the city would profit by Dr. Garnett being allowed to attend them.

Chairman E. F. Carter supported the suggestion and explained how the city would benefit by it. Councilman Geoghegan also supported the plan. Councilman W. E. Gardner felt that his traveling expenses only should be paid and that the budget should not be exceeded. Councilman McFall expressed belief that the sum named was somewhat high while Mr. Gowen pointed out the serious undertaking in allowing the health officer five weeks' leave of absence in the middle of the summer. It was, however, explained that Dr. Garnett has his work in good condition and that he has effective co-workers who could "carry on" during his absence. As opposition appeared to be developing Mr. Geoghegan reminded the members that only recently the sum of $100 had been voted for an attachment of the juvenile court to attend a convention in Toronto, "without letting an eye" and that since the city would derive a benefit through Dr. Garnett's trip it could be well afforded. Finally Councilman Gravely moved that the matter be referred back for a further report and a possible scaling down of the amount asked. It was reported that Dr. Garnett since being here has not had a vacation.

The Almshouse matter drew extended debate on the rate of depreciation to be stood by the Pittsylvania authorities. There was sentiment that one per cent per annum was too little and that five per cent would not be excessive. After some wordy exchanges it was decided that the county be given the option of five per cent or a settlement of the rate at the end of five years should the supervisors at that time wish to discontinue the arrangement. Mr. Towne voted against this and virtually served notice that in that shape the county would turn down the whole proposition.

Two new ordinances were introduced last night. One of them requires persons soliciting orders and selling goods from producer to consumer to put up a bond of $5,000 as a guarantee of their claims. Failure to do this would be punishable by a minimum fine of $300. Another ordinance referred to itinerant vendors requiring non bona fide residents to put up bond. Both ordinances were referred to the finance committee.

The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce in a letter read to the council asks Danville to participate in the Southern Exposition in New York next February and the question was referred to the finance committee.

Under the call of the roll Mr. McFall said that he hoped the council could arrange means of re-establishing street car service on Craighead street to the depot as was the case before the spur line was abandoned.

the military establishment as Battery B, 246th Artillery in the National Guard branch of the federal military establishment.

Three officers and forty-nine men appeared for inspection, seven others being absent with leave, making a total personnel, including commissioned officers, of 59. Major Henderson will recommend, after having inspection the battery, that it be federally recognized. It has already been inspected and approved by the State military authorities. The inspecting office stated last night after the inspection that the outlook for the company is very encouraging, and all expressed the view that the officers and men deserve commendation on their achievement. He was also pleased with the personnel of the battery, with the information he had.

Uniforms for the battery have not yet arrived, but will be shipped as soon as the report of the inspecting officer has been received and approved by the War Department. These will be the service uniform of khaki, but the battery will be at liberty to provide a showy uniform of a distinctive type, preferably gray, with red facings, to comport with the name and the arm of the service.

There are eight batteries in a coast artillery regiment, with a war or full numerical strength of about 250 to a battery. In peace only a skeleton or nucleus is maintained, this to be supplemented for war service, should it become necessary. The coast artillery units are armed with rifles, but should they enter active service they will supplement the garrison at coast fortifications and will then be assigned to ordnance work.

CORP. IS READY TO GRANT LOANS

The Agricultural Credit Corporation of Virginia after thirty days of successful operation is now in the position of inviting farmers of the Old Belt of Virginia and North Carolina to apply for loans equivalent to one-half of the first payment on the 1922 crop with certificates of participation as security for these loans. Farmers desiring loans should fill out the "notice of assignment" blank and forward this to the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association at Richmond, sending the executed note for one-half the first payment and certificate of participation to the offices of the Credit Corporation in the same building. The check for the loan is transmitted to the agent upon the word being received from Richmond.

The corporation also is prepared to grant loans running from six to nine months on farm property as security following the submission of the usual financial statement.

CALVARY MEN ORGANIZE A CAREY BARKER CLUB

After a preliminary meeting last Friday night, the men of Calvary Methodist church last night organized the Calvary Carey Barker club, an organization designed to promote and participate in evangelistic service and to be of any other service in the community and particularly in the congregation. Its name is derived from that of a member of the Billy Sunday Club, a similar organization in Lynchburg, who recently aided in a revival at Calvary church.

Election of officers resulted in selection of G. F. Walton president; Clyde White vice president; George A. Pugh secretary, and Clifton L. Beaver, treasurer. The club will meet every Friday night.

SUBDIVIDE THE FOURTH WARD

The public anxiety over the outcome of Tuesday's election which was maintained until the small hours of Wednesday morning is likely to recur until steps are taken to meet an objection which has become widespread. We refer to the necessity of providing two voting precincts in the fourth ward by subdividing it, a project which we have advocated before. The election this week clearly shows the necessity of such action being taken in order that the returns from any election may become known within a reasonable period in the night. As the situation exists today it is a grueling imposition on the judges of election and what is worse the piling up of responsibility on the two judges and three clerks affords the greater possibility of error. Some of us are inclined to forget or overlook the phenomenal growth of the fourth ward and the large increase in its population during the past few years. With one new area already built up to a surprising degree during the past two years another tract in course of development, assures a further swelling of the fourth ward's population for it is in the confines of that section that Danville's inward growth is now being manifested.

The matter is one which should be considered and acted upon without any further delay. In August we have the primary and in November there will be the general election and a recurrence of Tuesday's difficulties is clearly anticipated to an even larger degree for November additional households will have been established in that ward.

PUTTING LIFE INTO THE TICKET

It would have been hard to find two men so widely apart in character and temperament as Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes who have been picked by the Republicans at Cleveland as their ticket in the November election. The one is the very antithesis of the other, the frigidity and taciturnity of Coolidge being, one might almost say thrown into high relief by the irascible and volatile arms man whose outspokenness on any subject has made him a prominent national figure for the past three years. The choice as we view it of the vice presidential nominee is fortunate for the Republicans. It tones up the ticket and puts color into it. Many doubtless will think that of the pair, the nominee for the lesser post is the stronger of the two, and certainly possessing greater personal magnetism—an important element to be considered in choosing a candidate for public office. Should the Republican ticket succeed in the November election it will be interesting to see just how Charlie Dawes fits into the rather unenviable position of the vice presidency, one which is noted for its automatism and whether he can control his temperament so prone to burst forth unexpectedly at odd moments.

CRIME PREVENTION

It is an old saying that if you would reform a child it is necessary to begin with his grandfather. This may be placing more than the warranted premium on heredity. But the problem of instructing in obedience to the regulations of society has been greatly emphasized by the prevalence of crimes of all kinds, a large percentage of which are committed by persons who are between the ages of 18 and 25 years.

The training of children cannot be left entirely to the public schools, as so many parents show a disposition to do, but the obligation rests upon the parents and society in general.

obedience and may set them a good example of citizenship, but 20 hours a week, nine months in the year, will not offset bad influences from other sources. If boys and girls are to be saved from careers of lawlessness, there must be greater co-operation between the authorities and parents, especially in the cases of children who show a disposition to disregard the regulations which have been provided for the good of themselves and others.

One of the principal causes of crime is the freedom that is given to many boys and girls to roam the streets until late hours. The curfew plan has been tried by many municipal authorities, but it has not been found effective because many parents will not co-operate in the efforts to keep children from the streets. Juvenile courts have been established and accomplish much good in handling cases of delinquents. But the most important work is in preventing boys and girls from reaching the stage in disobedience which makes it necessary to take them into court.

SWAT

The "swat-the-fly" season has returned with its millions of disease-carrying, house-infesting insects. The battle for the extermination of the house fly has been waged with a certain degree of success for a decade and should not be relaxed this year. The time to swat the fly is in the breeding season. Every one killed now will mean thousands which will not have to be killed later.

Swatting the fly has been useful, both as a slogan and as a specific program in the warfare against the chief agency for the spread of disease. But it has not gone far enough. The destruction of a few thousands or millions of flies by the fly swatter or the trap is a poor alternative for the abolition of the insanitary conditions under which flies breed and accumulate disease germs. If the enormous number of deaths from preventable diseases is to be reduced and the burden and cost of sickness directly traceable to the contaminating touch of house flies are to be lifted from the community, the protective measures will have to be more effective and far-reaching.

Perhaps an absolutely flyless city is a dream impossible of accomplishment. But every housewife knows what screening has done for the home. And the vital statistics of death and disease tell the story of the deadly work of the flies. If we are to have a clean city, if the people are to be taught the perils to health that arise from uncovered garbage receptacles and unprotected manure heaps, it can only be brought about by co-operation on a larger scale.

ANVIL SPARKS

The older you are the quicker the future becomes the past.

Way radio works in summer you can't tell if it is a cat on the back fence or on the front fence.

The honeymoon is over when hubby starts chewing tobacco again.

Hitching your wagon to a star is all right, but don't let your little boy hitch it to an ice wagon.

More girls are swimming this year. Bathing beaches are beginning to look like a flock of magazine covers.

The rising generation may get some of its faults from associating with its parents.

Over in Europe they are viewing things with alarm and alarming things with their views.

FIGHT WAR OVER

PERTH, Australia, June 12.—Betas and knives fled the air when an argument over the war between the crew of an Australian steamer "Kangaroo" and the German steamer "Kronprinz" resulted in a fierce fight recently. Two Australians and one German were sent to the hospital here severely injured.

The word Yiddish itself is a corruption of the German "Jude," which means Jewish.

Scoop's Column

DRAPER'S BRANCH, June 13.—(Grapes Wireless).—Hundreds of young folks in this vicinity will be getting married this month. Here's some sage advice for expectant newlyweds:

"In the spring a young man's fancy gently turns to thoughts of love." So sings the poet. But it may be that the fancy is not wholly limited to the male of the species. There is much evidence to the girls of Danville, to say the least. Diamond rings are appearing on left third fingers; colorful and appealing hats and dresses are conspicuous challengers; and occasionally signs of amorous significance are breathed aloud. Soon wedding bells will be ringing and then—brides and bridegrooms will wish someone had given her or his consort some good homely advice regarding the important issues of honeymoon life. So being a man—yes a married man—we speak out of the fullness of experience and offer a few words of wisdom to the sterner sex—not daring to advise the gentle maidens and not knowing what to say if we dared. So here are the maxims:

What a Wife Likes:

1. Expressions of affection—especially morning, noon and night.

2. A partnership arrangement in business affairs—particularly at the time the salary check comes in or dividends on investments are received.

3. Supreme authority in the kitchen—at least from sunrise to sunset.

4. Avowed love for her kinsfolk—including all ancestors and living cousins.

5. Petting—except when asleep or absent.

6. Entertainment—as varied and frequent as in pre-hymenean days.

7. Praise—especially at her first pie, biscuits and doughnuts.

8. Approval—her taste in headgear and dress, whether working, party, or tea.

9. Independence—to do as she pleases, to retain her girlishness, to live her own life, and to develop her own personality.

10. A baby—especially if it resembles her own family and has none of the weaknesses of the groom's folks.

What a Wife Dislikes:

1. Leaving water in the wash basin.

2. Cold feet.

3. Stale cigar ashes on the living room table.

4. Whiskers.

5. Petty criticisms on her manner of speech and conduct.

6. Snoring.

7. Egotistical boasting of previous amorous conquests.

8. Grouchiness.

9. Wet raincoats and rubbers on the mahogany chairs.

10. Jealousy.

11. Interference in strictly feminine household matters.

12. Dandruff.

13. Sleeping on the counterpane with soiled shoes on the feet.

14. Awkwardness.

15. Smoking in bed at 2:30 a. m.

16. Faultfinders.

17. Unusual interest in other women's charms.

18. Untidy fingernails.

19. Continued reference to "the place that mother used to make."

20. An empty purse.

We must fill our own pay envelope, or some day we will find it empty.

LAYS KILLING TO GLANDS

By CHARLES BRETT
CHICAGO, June 12.—"Glands deep within the bodies of Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb made them capable of the murder of Robert Frank,"

This theory is advanced by Dr. William Held, specialist in glands, to explain the crime which involved members of two well-to-do millionaire families.

Almonists and physiologists have such a motive in some brain kink of the two 19-year-old players. Dr. Held goes to the glands which have been located as the basis of personality, and points to them as the main spring.

The theory is not comforting to the players, because the physician declares they were not insane, however abnormal. They know they were doing wrong and had the power to choose.

"The principal motive the boys have admitted was desire for a thrill," said Dr. Held.

Joy in suffering

"Such a confession is in harmony with a form of nervousness which finds gratification in suffering and violence. The stimulus would have been furnished not only by the sight of their victim's death, but by the shock to the community and the grief of his parents.

"Cases of this sort arise very seldom, but the details of the Frank Leopold slaying suggest it as a possibility. Abnormality in gland secretions would encourage perversion."

The two glands which I believe are affecting the conduct of these boys are the thyroid and the suprarenal.

The thyroid gland, in childhood induces mental development. Its ceasing to function results in an unbalancing of the personality. The suprarenal gland, by its secretions, makes for positiveness, aggressiveness, courage.

"I believe Leopold had an excessive secretion from his suprarenal gland and an arrested action from the thyroid. The thyroid trouble shows in his face by the noticeable narrowing of his eyebrows at the outside."

"You object, do you, that Leopold was unusually well developed mentally?"

HE KNOWS THE DICTIONARY

By ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEW YORK, June 13.—How's your vocabulary today? Is it up to the minute so that you know what "Mobydick" means? Or are you several months behind in the "Scrofflaw" period?

New words are coming into our language at the rate of about 2500 a year—and even the man who writes the dictionary has trouble keeping up with them all.

He is Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary and author of many books on word usage.

"Americans," he says, "are the greatest linguistic pirates of all time. In the matter of acquisition of our speech we are governed by no law. We take what we need of other people's language—whether they like or not."

"As a result, we hold the key to a universal tongue that some day perhaps will dominate the earth."

Among recent additions to our language, which you should know, if you want to be up to the latest in linguistic style, Dr. Vizetelly points out, are:

Svars: From British India. Term that stands for "Sinn Fein" movement which is trying to establish cultural and political development under native influence.

Jitney: From the French "jetton"—a piece of stamped metal used as a counter in card-laying or reckoning. An English expert agrees with this origin, but claims that its corruption in our term for a five-cent piece, is due to the coynery of the London EastEnders who applied it to their small change.

Hooch: From Alaska, where it was a modest word used in full, hoochino, by the Alaskan Indian to describe "a very strong distilled liquor made from yeast, flour, molasses and sugar, one glass of which is said to contain more 'kick' than a quart of any other ordinary intoxicating beverage made—whiskey included."

Fascist: From the Italian, derived from the Latin "fascia"—something that binds together. Now the term is applied to that body of Italians who are united to oppose the revolutionary tendencies of the supporters of Socialism in Italy.

Bolshevik: From the Russian "bol'she" which means "the greater." In the derivative terms such as "Bolshevism" the genius of our language has discarded the "k" and simplified the term.

Mah Jong: From the Chinese game that is becoming one of America's favorite indoor sports. There are 300 pieces in the original game—and each has a name. When the fad game is popularized here, there will be 3000 additional words to our tongue—some of which have already caught on—Pung! Chow! etc.

Among other words that have become part of our language recently are those derived from terms of science. Radio itself has contributed some 6000 words. And the science of aeronautics about half as many. But here are two outside the larger field.

Parsec: A unit of length used in astronomy to express the distance of stars. One parsec is almost exactly 206,256 times the mean distance of earth from the sun. The term came into popular usage at the time Betelgeuse was featured in the news columns.

Proton: is a word that belongs to the science of the atom. It is much smaller than the atom itself and comes from the Greek protos—the lowest ranking member of a series.

These are but a few of the terms that are becoming part of the language. Not all the word that come into usage remain.

"Some of them are just fadist expressions," says Dr. Vizetelly.

"Scofflaw," for instance, widely publicized several months ago as the term applied to those who violate the prohibition laws, is fast fading out from the picture. For it can't stand the crucible test of time, which makes a word permanent.

"Mobydick" is the latest word which is being tried out. It is a word coined from the M. Y. O. B. initial letters of "Mind your own business" and is the antonym of a busy body. But it, too, will have to stand the test of time before we can put it into the dictionary.

TRY THESE

If you want to find out whether you are up to the minute in word usage try to define these terms:

Autodyne Intarvin
Binet Age Kalastrum
Blah Milline
Bonnaz Monotrol
Cardioscope Neurodysthe
Charmuse Oireachtas
Cleotrophobia Potentiometer
Cobb Soulism
Congreen Skynography
Colorum Synura
Eskimo Pie Telautogram
Glaswegian Vitamin
Heterodyne Zirconite

BANK CLOSES

(By The Associated Press)

Can Rely Upon Underwood's Decision

BY DR. WM. M. MARSTON
Washington, Psychologist and Psycho-Analyst.

Senator Oscar W. Underwood's face and head denote, at a glance, massive and substantial accomplishment. They belong to a man who has arrived, and who can't be budged from the position he has won.

Drawing a line straight down from where Underwood's nose joins his upper lip to the bottom of his chin, would show the senator is of an executive type, the chin tip being slightly behind the nose-lip line. This chin does not protrude itself as an impediment to efficient progress through troubled waters, but it is a very broad, substantial chin comparable, perhaps, to a first-line battleship capable of much speed, but not of entering shallow water.

Underwood's mouth is of the ample, appetitive variety. The lower lip has the beginnings of being a speaking organ for unselfish discussion.

The upper lip, to be sure, is naturally closed down pretty tightly on such talk, whenever it is not directed to some discernible appetitive purpose. But if the lower lip gets a chance, it could expose some very fine, public causes.

Balanced Judgment.

Underwood's eyes are worth putting considerable attention on. They show two exactly opposite characters, sex and appetite, not often mingled in this way.

But when you look at the fleshy formation of the Underwood eye-sockets, you find perfect outward-pointing triangles, indicating property-seeking characteristics, and this fleshy structure has, of course, developed during the senator's active life-time, we might suppose his naturally altruistic tendencies have been turned, by the circumstances of his career, into appetitive channels. That is, every human being has some of both motives to begin with.

It is quite possible the motive least in evidence at the start may be brought out by the person's environment as it is the predominant one at maturity. So it seems to be with Senator Underwood. Politics have persistently repressed love, and have at the same time, brought out appetite—the motive necessary for success.

Underwood has a splendid head. His forehead is exceedingly high, broad and well-blended with the dome and side curves of his skull. That means a thorough-thinking, fully conscious, well-controlled mind. In fact, the forehead and head are so unusually strong that one would expect that cool, evenly balanced judgment would usually outweigh executive quickness and directness of action.

Gets What He Seeks.

If Underwood has made up his mind that he has a good chance of winning the Democratic nomination, his head shows that such a judgment is something to be on!

To sum up: Half Senator Underwood's eyes and mouth are made for spotting good food—including political plums—star off, and for munching such tidbits hard and efficiently. The other half of eyes and mouth protest against such procedure, and would seek out human needs, ripe for discussion and remedy.

The senatorial chin, though broad and serviceable, is capable of much executive efficiency.

And, above all else, the Underwood head is an organ of such power that Democrats may well be directed by it, and Republicans may be obliged to direct their principal attacks at it

HOME CONVENIENCE DAY IS CELEBRATED

RICHMOND, June 12.—"Home Convenience Day" was celebrated at Fredericksburg last Thursday under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Virginia home demonstration department. Approximately 150 housewives from Stafford, Spotsylvania, King George, Westmoreland, Essex and Prince William counties registered at the Opera House preceding the morning program. A large delegation of home economics teachers and students from the State Teachers College was present.

The address of welcome was delivered by Prof. A. B. Chandler, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce. He warmly commended the enterprise of the women and the home improvement work.

Mrs. M. M. Davis, State home demonstration agent, Blacksburg, gave an interesting address on the origin and development of home demonstration work which is devoted to the welfare and interests of the women of the rural sections, pointing out the work being done by the demonstration agents in the state for the improvement of the rural homes.

Miss Annie H. Garrett, home demonstration agent for Stafford county, was in charge of the program and was assisted by Miss B. B. Burke, district agent; Miss Belle Downing, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and the advisory council of Stafford county. Included in the program was a moving picture, "The Happier Way," showing the advantages of a modern sanitary kitchen over one that is poorly arranged.

Lunch was served in the city park. The afternoon was spent in visiting the stores of Fredericksburg and in

Texans Battle Again—For Art

HOUSTON, Tex., June 18.—Texans, who already have fought under six flags, are battling again—this time under the banner of art.

A monument to be erected here to General Sam Houston, the man who freed Texas from Mexican rule, is the cause of it all.

The contract was awarded Enrico Cerrachio, sculptor, who readily admits he is a missionary for art to the people of the Lone Star State.

His design, depicting Houston leading his men into battle at San Jacinto, is pure art, he contends.

But some of Houston's descendants declare it is just "pure bunk."

"That statue ought never to go up," says Mrs. Robert Johns, a niece of the general.

"The resemblance is so remote, the face is unrecognizable and the pose is awkward."

"The general wore a plain black coat, fur cap and old boots at San Jacinto. The statue shows him in a double-breasted Prince Albert, a campaign hat and polished boots. And it makes him look too 'fancy' from a barber shop."

Other descendants, however, do-

clare the statue is a perfect likeness. They agree with Cerrachio that his work is pure art.

NEW FRENCH CHIEF STILL UNSELECTED

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, June 12.—The identity of the successor to Alexandre Millerand as president of France, which this morning has appeared to be almost certain in the persons of either Paul Painlevé, president of the Chamber of Deputies, or Gaston Doumergue, president of the Senate, had this evening become clouded by a thick pall of political uncertainty and the agitated lobbies of parliament turned to discussion of possible dark horses.

The failure of M. Painlevé to receive a sufficient number of votes in the caucus of the coalition of the Left parties to insure his election at the national assembly at Versailles to-morrow seemed to improve the chances of M. Doumergue but the refusal of the Socialist group to support the latter left the new majority of the chamber in a quandary which seemed solved only through the selection of a third man.

Three persons are being discussed as possible candidates. They are Senator Jules Pams, who was a candidate against Raymond Poincaré when he was elected to the peerage in 1912; Georges Leygues, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Chamber and first premier under President Millerand, and Edouard Herriot, leader of the radical party who has been slated to succeed M. Poincaré as premier.

KINGS LYNN, England, June 12.—Prince Henry, the third son of King George, has got a job which carries with it the remuneration of $50 a year. At a recent meeting of the town council here a letter was received from the prince accepting the appointment of Lord High Stewart for the town.

By his acceptance of this office the prince will become the representative of the Borough in the House of Lords, where he is entitled to the peerage in the near future.

Lynn is one of the oldest boroughs in England, its first charter of incorporation being granted by King John.

TODAY'S Washington LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The shade of Woodrow Wilson will be invoked at the New York Democratic convention by a fighting group of his loyal followers in an effort to carry forward the cause closest to Wilson's heart by incorporating in the party platform a clear-cut and definite plank endorsing American participation in the League of Nations.

Four of Wilson's old cabinet members, all of them listed as possible presidential selections, will join in the fight to commit the party on the League issue. They are:

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war.

Carter Glass, also served as head of the treasury after McAdoo's resignation.

David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture and later of treasury under Wilson.

Josephus Daniels, secretary of navy, through the entire eight years of Wilson's regime.

Aiding these ex-cabinet officials in the drive to resurrect the cause of their dead chieftain, not only because they believe in the cause but also because they believe it can be used better than any other issue to differentiate Democrats from Republicans and stir the nation's dormant idealism, will be Bernard M. Baruch, Robert W. Woolley, Norman Davis, Henry Morgenthau and Vance McCormick.

There is the makings of real drama in the scene as it will be set for the League of Nations fight.

Wilson's last message to the country, his brief Armistice Day speech last November 11, will be made the keynote for the occasion.

People present Wilson leaned heavily on his cane as he addressed the crowd that made pilgrimage to his home on that anniversary of the end of the war. But as he spoke, something of his old fighting spirit came back to him and as he closed, his voice rose in a challenge to those foes, "those fools," who interposed their "puny will" against a cause which he said, "as certainly as there is a God in heaven will prevail."

With this last message from their old commander as the battle cry, champions of the League in the convention believe the crusading spirit of the delegates may be roused to a higher pitch than by any other issue.

These leaders of the League cause deny that it can be used in any way to the party's disadvantage in the campaign.

"The Republicans will charge us with favoring the League, whether we say 'so or not,'" they explain. "They will seek to use it against us, anyway. All we propose is to make the League battle an offensive, not a defensive one; to stand definitely and boldly for American participation in the only world organization which promises any practical assistance in maintaining the peace of the world."

LEGION POST TO ATTEND "FLAG DAY" DAY EXERCISES

Officers of Danville post, American Legion, have sent out cards to 380 men enrolled as members, asking to report at the Municipal hall at 2 o'clock p.m. Saturday to participate in the celebration of Flag Day, arranged by the Danville lodge of Elks. The legionaries of the Danville post have no opportunity to stimulate patriotism and keep it active in the community and within a wide radius of the city. The Flag Day program will be instructive to all who attend, but it will also be promotive of reverence for our National flag and for all that it stands for. Incidentally the opportunity is a fine one to stress what our flag stands unalterably against.

Both the local lodge of Elks and the Legion post are rendering a great community service in this Flag Day celebration. In this connection it may be of interest to note that Owner Murphy, of the Danville baseball club has deferred the final game of the High Point series until 5 o'clock in order that those who attend the patriotic exercises at the tabernacle may also see a ball game played by a greatly strengthened local team.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Uncle Sam has never had a better track and field team for Olympic competition than will be assembled for the Paris invasion this year.

This is the fact that stands out importantly as the nations amateur athletes gather for the final Olympic trials in the Harvard stadium at Cambridge this week-end.

We will show weakness in only two events, the walk and the javelin. In all other respects the American team of 1924 will be better performers than ever before, will be better trained and better coached.

Why? Well, because preparations have been carried on in a more certain manner for one thing. Secondly because of the growth of athletic enthusiasm throughout the country and finally because coaches were selected early and given real authority.

She went out in 39 and home in 37, for a total of 76 strokes—just two above par for the course and within four of the professional record established there eleven years ago and tied only once since by a man.

Whether or not Miss Collett is potential Babe Ruth, the writer believes that her work on the Braceburn course will stand as a woman's record for years. She was ten strokes better than any of the competitors and "spread-eagled" the field.

CHICAGO CUBS TRAIL THE GIANTS CLOSELY

(By The Associated Press)

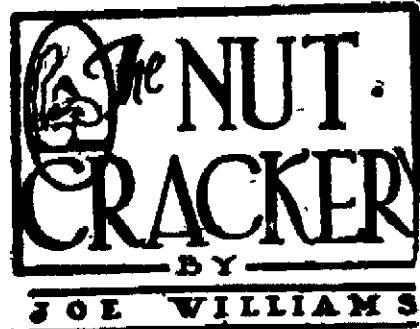

NEW YORK, June 13.—Thanks to the weather man and the weakness of the Braves' pitching staff, the Chicago Cubs are today snapping at the heels of the Giants. While rain prevented the McGravites from meeting the Reds, the Bruins treated Bancroft's hopefuls to a 3 to 5 defeat yesterday and pulled up to within half a game of the national league leaders. Neither Genowich nor Cooney was able to stop the fast traveling windy city crew.

Jupiter Pluvius also caused the postponement of the St. Louis-Brooklyn and Pittsburgh-Philadelphia contests.

In the American League the Yankees and Red Sox were pounding out victories over Detroit and Cleveland respectively, continued to run neck and neck. Led by the Rambino, who St. Louis clash.

Hard and timely hitting did the work, although Muspy did his best four pitchers. The victory put Danville back into third place again, while Greensboro was being given a drubbing by Raleigh.

As may be seen from these figures the three bond issue proposals—first for schools, second for streets and third for sewers—all show the required two-thirds majority of the general non-realty-owning electorate, and along with it the approval of the required majority of the total qualified freehold vote of the city. Last year's election proved abortive because the total vote of freeholders did not aggregate a majority of all the freeholders qualified to vote. Only in the Fifth ward was the freehold majority against the bond issues, with the Fifth and Sixth wards the required majority of non-freeholders of the general (non-freehold vote) was lacking, but in the city's total general vote the deficiency in those two wards is more than made up.

The requisite majorities of both votes are undoubtedly sufficient to approve the issues of municipal bonds to the amount provided.

HOW TO PLAY SHORTSTOP—EVERETT SCOTT

By EVERETT SCOTT

"Iron Man" of Shortstops
Learning to always play the ball on the big bound is the first requisite of a successful shortstop.

Playing "heads up" baseball at all times would be my second bit of advice to any shortstop who aspires to make the big league.

By "heads up" baseball I mean to study of your batters, be able to every situation, figure out what you are going to do with the ball when you get it, so as to make the wiser possible play.

A ground ball is difficult to handle only when the fielder plays it badly and gets it between his legs.

When a ground ball is hit in the general direction of the shortstop he must figure the number of bounds the ball will take before it reaches him and play it accordingly.

On a certain ball it may be necessary for the shortstop to back up a couple of steps to be in a proper position to receive it. On another ball it may call for the fielder to run in three or four steps to meet it.

Always Try to Play the Ball.

In the parlance of the ball field, getting a ground hit on the proper bound is known as "playing the ball."

The big bound is always the proper bound, making it easy to handle.

When a fielder is not taking a ground ball on the big bound he is letting the ball play him and then troubling starts.

Of course there are certain batted balls that cannot be played on a big bound. Such a ball is one that is hit on a line, very close to the ground and strikes a few feet in front of the shortstop.

Another type is the slow hit ball with a fast runner. To try to figure getting the slow hit ball on the high bound, would nine times out of ten mean the loss of the decision at first base.

Must Get Ball Away Fast.

The line drive that strikes a few feet from you and the slow batted ball are two types the shortstop must take as they come.

The main essential in the successful completion of such plays is to keep your eye on the ball until it strikes your glove.

Confidence and getting the jump on the ball are two essential assets every shortstop must possess.

Always make an effort to field the ball in such a manner that you are in a position to throw without any loss of motion. The slightest fraction of a second loss is often fatal.

Figure your runner's speed on every play and rate your throw accordingly. I play a deep field on a hard-hitting right-handed batter, such as Harry Heilmann. With a fast left-handed batter up, like Ty Cobb, I play in much closer than on the ordinary batter. It is always well to try to make the play so that you will never have to hurry your throw.

How to Properly Tag Runner.

Knowledge of the fields to which certain batters are prone to hit and familiarity with the style ball that is to be pitched them, is of great aid to the shortstop in shifting on each batter so as to be the best possible position.

Tagging the runner must also be considered. Getting a good grip on the ball and laying it in front of the runner, directly in the path of the runner will get most of them.

On runners with a deceptive slide it is best to get between them and the bag, so as to block them off. Never go out to meet a runner about to slide; let him come into you, it is far easier and much safer.

Work with your second baseman on every play by means of a signal or word of mouth, so each man will know just what to do.

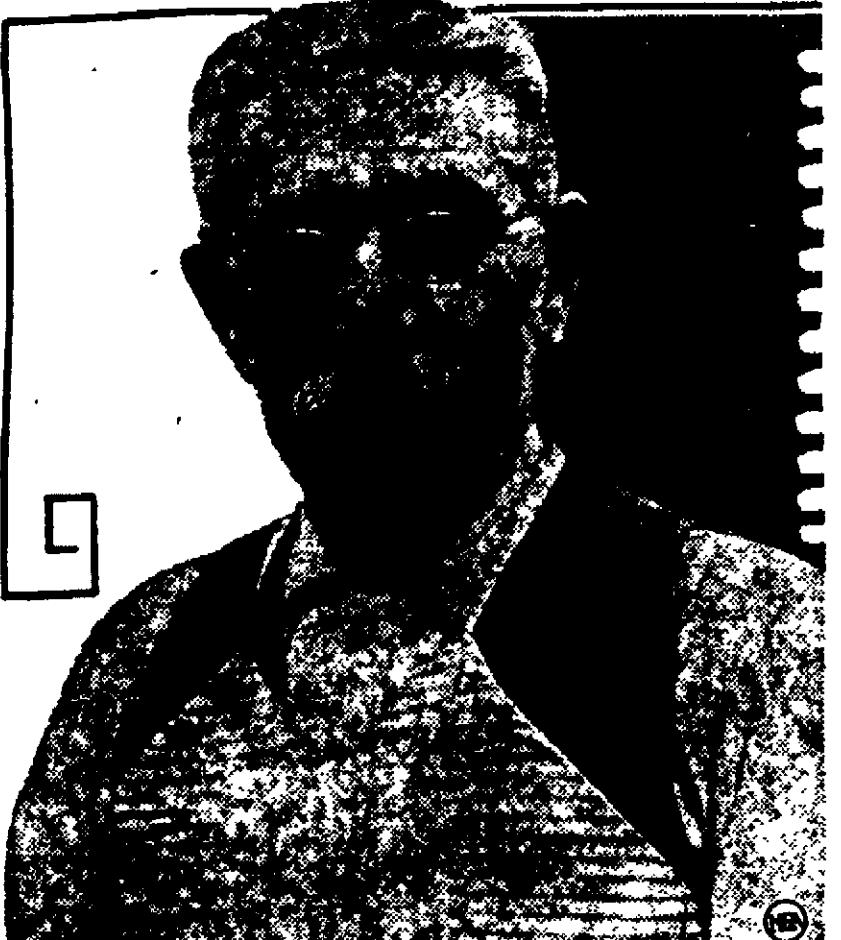

These are just a few of the fundamental pointers in the art of playing shortstop, which to my way of thinking is the most difficult of all positions.

COOLIDGE 30 YEARS AGO

JAMES LUCEY

By JAMES LUCEY
Shoemaker Friend of President Coolidge

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—Calvin Coolidge today is the same man he was when I knew him 30 years ago in Northampton. First met in the second week of October in 1894, when he was a sophomore at Amherst.

Robert Wier, who worked in a bookshop in Northampton, brought Coolidge to the same shop I work in today. Wier later became superintendent of buildings at the Clark School for the Deaf and Dumb where Grace A. Goodhue was a teacher. Grace is now Mrs. Coolidge. Wier is now in Los Angeles.

Coolidge was just as shy then as he is now, perhaps even more so then. He would sit for hours in my shop and ask me my views about things and I would question him.

Coolidge always sat in a little chair in a quiet corner of my shop when he talked.

A few months ago two women from down state called on me. They wanted to see the president's shoemaker, they said. One of them was a school teacher. If she weighed a pound, she weighed 300.

She wanted to sit in the same chair that Coolidge sat in. She pulled it out and sat down. The chair broke. The teacher's hat went in one direction and she went in another, but that Coolidge refused to accept money for that so he put $10 in Coolidge's overcoat pocket.

If someone asks a favor of Coolidge, he first determines whether or not it should be granted. If he finds that the person is not asking too much, he will tell him that he will do the best he can. He never makes promises he can't fulfill. Then before the person expects it, he finds the favor done.

PROLIFIC ITALIAN MISSING.

By The Associated Press

ROME, June 13.—A nation-wide search is being made by the police for Giacomo Matteotti, known as the "martyr of socialism," who mysteriously disappeared. Matteotti has not been seen since last Tuesday. His wife, in reporting the disappearance of the deputy today, said she was fearful he had been kidnapped. He had with him when last seen a number of documents which he intended to use in a speech he was to make in the chamber against the government.

Premier Mussolini has ordered the police authorities throughout Italy to make a diligent search for Matteotti. The police today questioned several socialist deputies concerning the disappearance. The reports they received tended rather to confuse the case than solve the mystery.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, June 13.—The first of the two big conventions has completed its work. Coolidge and Dawes picked two lucky ones both of whom have been born under lucky stars or do you believe in luck? Well whether you do or not isn't it strange how some folks just keep climbing with ease, winning everything they go after. The Cleveland ticket should be styled "The Lucky Man's Ticket."

I notice the New York World is the strongest of the Democratic papers gives General Dawes a very good editorial send off.

Well, whether you are going to vote for the ticket or not, you will admit there is nothing bearish about it.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Holliday in Liverpool. The South had mostly clear weather yesterday with high temperatures in parts of Texas and Oklahoma. The forecast is for fair weather today followed by showers east of the Mississippi tomorrow. Price reports from Texas as to crop progress now average more favorable but some of the advance from Georgia and Alabama in the west has also had the effect of creating an active distribution of summer cotton goods but the movement is still slow in the east due to unseasonable temperatures.

New crop months momentarily will be influenced by what occurs in the July.

It is not generally known that flour, sugar, starch, or grain dusts are capable of working greater havoc than a high explosive such as dynamite.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Reactions followed yesterday's advance in the cotton market in the early trading today. The urgent demand from July shorts seemed to have been supplied and there was renewed local and southern selling of new crop months promoted by reports of continued favorable weather in the south.

A renewal of covering by near month shorts checked the decline around these figures and caused rallies of six or seven points but the buying was not active and the market was unsettled.

WOMEN OUTNUMBER MEN

ON BABUYAN ISLANDS

MANILA, June 12.—The recent earthquakes and volcanic eruptions in the Babuyan Islands have brought forth statements from mariners who recently have been in that region, that a large portion of the population is composed of women. It is said this situation is due to the fact that so many of the men have lost their lives at sea.

The male population of the islands engaged almost entirely in fishing as a means of livelihood, and the frequent typhoons which sweep over that region play havoc with their fishing craft. It is stated that on one island of the group, with a population of about 200, there are 15 women to one man.
